Meet The Band:

The foundation of Nemesis is its rhythm section. Tony Masciotra on bass and Ian Acott on drums play seamlessly together functioning as though they were a single player. With the added harmonic colour and searing soloing of Vic Bortolon's guitar, elegance of John Foster Blair's piano playing, and all contributing to harmony vocals there is no finer rhythm section anywhere.

The incredible vocals of Nemesis are lead by the incomparable Suzi Marsh and John Foster Blair. In addition to his instrumental duties John Blair is the Lead Male Vocalist in the band, offering an incredible range between lush vocal stylings comparable to Michael Bublé and Robert Lamb to the gritty, fierceness of John Lennon and Bruce Springsteen that has become the hallmark of rock & roll. As if this weren't enough to captivate audiences Suzi Marsh pushes boundaries with endless, infectious energy from her explosive renditions of classic divas such as Tina Turner and Aretha Franklin to the sultriness of Christina Aguilera and the gentle whispers of Alison Krauss.

Tying this ensemble together is the powerful, dynamic punctuation of the horn section. The sonorous sound of Michael Seguin, Corey Fitzpatrick and Andrew Wasilewski combine to create the power and energy of the classic horn bands such as Chicago, Tower of Power, and Blood Sweat & Tears.
